

In early days, early humans used to hunt wild animals to eat them. They wrap animal skin and tree leave over their body to escape themselves from cold.

